

We are confident.
We are inquisitive.
We are scientists.

Science Vocabulary of the Week

scientist

A scientist is someone who discovers new things and figure out how things work. Scientists are normal people just like you and me. There are lots of different jobs a scientist might do. They may study plants (botany), the universe (astronomy), or animals (zoology). Engineers, doctors, veterinarians, geologists, archaeologists and ecologists are all types of scientists.