Scientist of the Week

30 October 2023

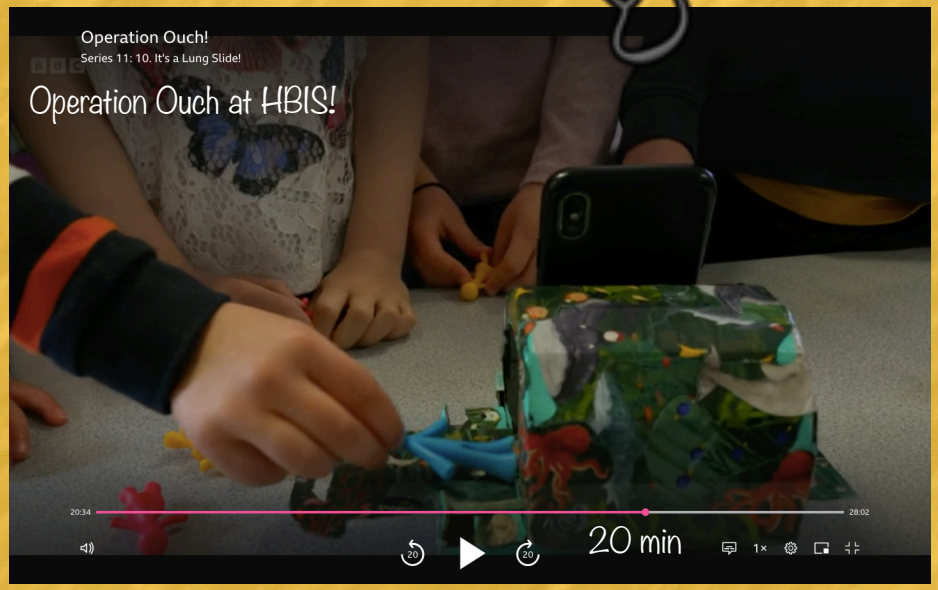

Chris & Xander van Tulleken

Born on 18 August 1978, Chris and Xand van Tulleken are identical twin brothers, medical doctors and TV presenters.

They studied medicine at Oxford University. Xand specialised in Tropical medicine and now focuses on research and training. Chris is a practicing doctor focusing on infectious diseases.

On Operation Ouch! they teach children about medicine and biology by performing experiments on the human body to see how they work and investigate medical treatments and technology. n addition, they follow child patients as they attend hospitals around the country.

Did you know Dr Chris visited and filmed part of Operation Ouch at Hunter's Bar Infant School in 2019?

https://www.bbc.co.uk/cbbc/shows/operation-ouch