

Author of the Week

20 November 2023

Katie Sahota

Katie Sahota is a passionate writer and avid reader. After studying English Language, Linguistics and achieving a BSc in Computing, Katie completed a Masters in Public Health and specialises in issues affecting the health and wellbeing of children and young people.

She strongly believes in the power of writing and books to tackle important issues, such as identity, inclusion and race, using her experiences of a gender-biased career and as the mother of two mixed race girls with her husband.

<https://katiesahota.com/>

