

We are confident.
We are inquisitive.
We are scientists.

Science Vocabulary of the Month

absorbent

Absorbent is a property of materials that can soak up liquid.

An absorbent material has small holes in it. When a liquid comes into contact with an absorbent material, the tiny holes draw in the liquid and it spread through the material.

