Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara

Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara is the author and creator of the internationally best-selling series Little People, BIG DREAMS. Growing up in the '70s in Barcelona, her heroines were Pippi Longstocking, Momo and Tinkerbell, and she felt great admiration for the Spanish poet Gloria Fuertes. She dreamed of becoming a poet one day. It took Maria Isabel almost 40 years to make her dream come true.

In 2012, after 20 years of working in advertising, she self-published her first book. Two years later, she released the very first title in the Little People, BIG DREAMS series. Now with more than 12 million copies sold worldwide, the series continues to grow and expand, introducing children around the world to a diverse range of creatives, scientists, politicians and more!
