Caryl Hart

Caryl Hart is a children's author. Caryl was inspired to write children's books after reading lots of fantastic picture books in our local library, she said to her husband, "I could do that." He replied, "Go on then" and that's how her writing journey began! Caryl has published over 80 children's books including baby books, picture books, young fiction and non-fiction stories. Her goal is to write at least one hundred books in my lifetime.

Caryl lives in Sheffield, and loves walking in the hills of the Peak District in her spare time.

Caryl also runs creative literacy workshops and events for schools, libraries, literacy agencies and festivals. She will be visiting Hunter's Bar Infants School later in January!
